

History repeats itself...like fathers, like sons

Danvers, May 2009

Danatronics is pleased to announce the signing of our exclusive sales agreement with Sofranel, France. In the late 1973's Dr. Edmund Carnevale, then co-founder of Panametrics traveled to Paris to appoint Vladimir Husarek then president of Sofranel as their exclusive agent for France. Since that time, Sofranel has remained the longest agent for Panametrics, now part of Olympus. Dan Carnevale, son of Dr. Edmund Carnevale and founder of Danatronics, has signed an exclusive agreement with Pierre Husarek, son of Vladimir and current president of Sofranel. In a statement from Danatronics Corp..."We are very excited and pleased to be working with Sofranel again as our exclusive sales agent for our ultrasonic thickness gage and video borescope product lines in France and North Africa. Their tremendous technical ability and professionalism combined with our unique and growing line of ndt equipment will make for a very powerful solution for customers demanding more personal attention. We hope to get back to our roots by offering personal demonstration that today's larger companies have gotten away from".
